SECTION 2: AWARD CATEGORY SECTION

AWARD CATEGORY: BEST INFRASTRUCTURE SECTOR PUBLIC RELATIONS OFFICER

Criteria:

- Project Transparency: Excellence in keeping the public informed regarding public works, transportation, housing, and structural developments.
- Disruption Management: Proactive deployment of communication strategies to mitigate public frustration during large-scale construction or utility maintenance disruptions.

Describe a major public works, housing, or transportation project you communicated over the past year. How did you keep citizens updated across all stages—from initial groundbreaking to milestone completions? (100 words)

Submit 2–3 examples of project communication tools (e.g., interactive progress dashboards, community newsletters, site signage, or media briefings) that best demonstrate consistent public reporting. (100 words)

Describe a large-scale road closure, transit diversion, or utility outage (water, power, telecom) you managed. How far in advance did you notify affected communities, and what multi-channel strategy did you use to reach commuters and residents? (100 words)

Share an example of how you worked directly with transport unions, local assembly members, market leaders, or resident associations before and during a major disruption to address grievances early. (50 words)

Tell us about a time local residents or commercial drivers threatened protests over prolonged construction dust, noise, or blocked access. How did your communication strategy for the institution help de-escalate the tension? (100 words)

Beyond simply announcing a disruption, what practical solutions or guidance did you provide to help citizens navigate the inconvenience (e.g., alternative route maps, peak-hour alerts, local business support) (100 words)

- Provide relevant documents and information that support your application for the award
